

SOMERSET, N.J. – Fairleigh Dickinson women's bowling junior Amanda Chrzanowski and freshman Cameron Spring earned the Northeast Conference Bowler and Rookie of the Week awards.

Chrzanowski and Spring both earned the honors for their outstanding performances this past weekend at the Northeast Roundup, where both Knight bowlers made the All-Tournament Team and helped the Knights go 9-0 and capture the tournament title.

Chrzanowski was at the forefront of Fairleigh Dickinson's phenomenal showing at the Northeast Roundup in Wilmington, Del. Leading the Knights to a 9-0 record and first-place finish, the junior right-hander from Colonie, N.Y., accounted for a 24.71 overall frame average. Striking at an astronomical rate (.767), Chrzanowski proceeded to fill frames at a 94.4 percent clip. She averaged 9.69 pins per first-ball attempt, helping FDU top the entire tournament field in total team pinfall.

Chrzanowski exceeded the 200-pin mark in all five of Saturday's traditional team matches, producing a tournament-best and program-record 258.2 game average. After firing a 237 game to help sink No. 23 Wilmington, Chrzanowski turned in a 278-pin performance in a victory over No. 22 Monmouth. The third-year Knight averaged 24.00 pins per baker frame with FDU posting a 4-0 team record during that format.

Spring was sensational during Fairleigh Dickinson's first-place showing at the Northeast Roundup. The first-year Knight from Allegany, N.Y., averaged 22.66 pins per frame over the course of the two-day meet. Helping FDU to a 9-0 record, Spring struck on 52 of 87 (.598) first-ball shots and filled frames at a 93.1 percent clip. She knocked down 9+ pins on 82.8 percent of her first balls and went a perfect 20-for-20 on single-pin spare attempts.

Spring's 229.6 traditional game average was second to only FDU teammate Amanda Chrzanowski on the tournament's individual leader board. Spring's 257-pin performance led the Knights in a victory over No. 23 Wilmington. She fired a 278 game in a triumph over Garden State rival Monmouth. Following Saturday's traditional team rounds, Spring proceeded to average 22.31 pins per baker frame on Sunday.

This is the third NEC weekly honor for Chrzanowski and the second honor for Spring this season
